Background

As part of its developmental mandate, the Securities Commission Malaysia (SC) set up the Capital Markets Promotion Council (CMPC) in 2012, to strengthen its internationalisation agenda for Malaysia's capital markets. In 2014, the SC rebranded CMPC as Capital Markets Malaysia (CMM) to spearhead the local and international positioning as well as profiling of the Malaysian capital markets.

Objectives

Funded by the Capital Markets Development Fund, CMM showcases the competitiveness and attractiveness of the various segments of the Malaysia capital markets – to promote international participation and enhance opportunities for domestic capital market intermediaries. CMM works to support the advancement of Malaysia's capital market intermediaries through various initiatives and partnerships, focusing on four key areas:

- Sustainable finance and investing
- The islamic capital markets
- The digital markets
- Capital market funding opportunities through the private markets
